Boats, arts, music and food... Buro 24/7 Middle East has the complete guide to your cultural events in March.

With March being arts season, the emirate is buzzing with creative concepts. As well, stepping away from the canvasses and the sculptures, the city also provides a plentitude of things to do to ensure your monthly dose of culture is fulfilled. Buro 24/7 Middle East lists the top things to do this month...

Sail away at the Dubai International Boat Show

Dubai's highly-anticipated boat show returns with a whole host of displays and activities for everyone. Boat enthusiasts will be drawn to five different departments

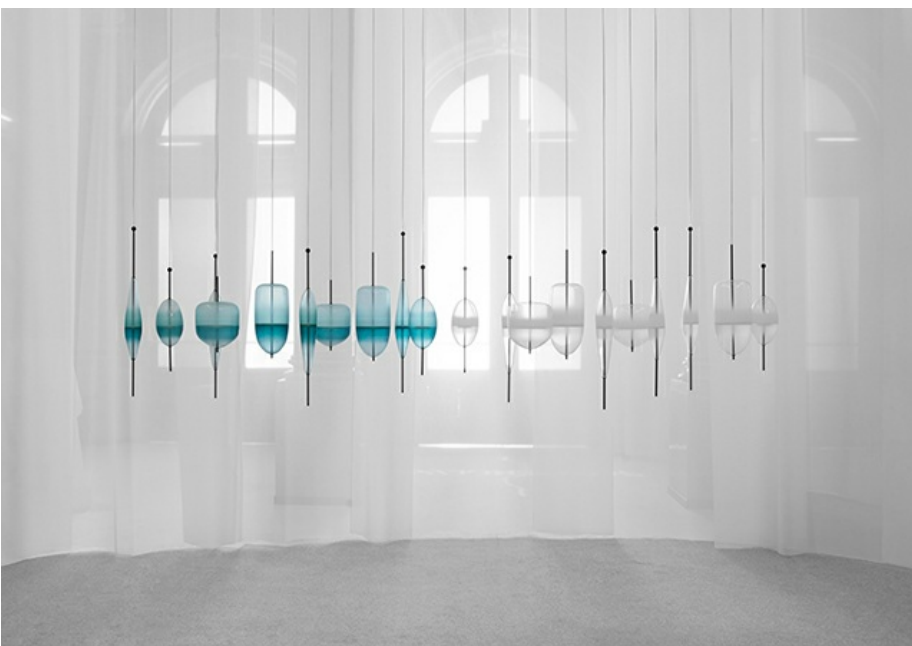

Second Harvest VII by Ahmet Dogu Ipek

Art Dubai runs from March 16-19. For more information, visit artdubai.ae.

Appreciate innovative creations at Design Days Dubai

The region's number one design fair opens this month, delivering more creativity and artistry. With a programme schedule that includes talks, workshops and guided tours, it's no wonder that the event attracts some of the most distinguished galleries from around the world. Also to look forward to at this year's edition is the announcement of the winning entry for the annual Van Cleef & Arpel's Middle East Emergent Designer Prize.

Friday brunch at Gaucho

Gaicho's Friday brunch runs throughout March from 12pm-4pm and the packages start from Dhs320 per person. Gaucho is located at DIFC.

Relax to the soothing tunes of Boyce Avenue

Youtube musical sensation Boyce Avenue will be coming to Dubai as part of their Be Somebody World Tour. Popular for their reinterpretation of contemporary hits, the band has collaborated with various artists including Fifth Harmony, on a video which has garnered over 90 million views. Producing albums under their own record label, Boyce Avenue is the biggest independent band on YouTube.

Boyce Avenue will perform at The Lawn, Emirates Golf Club on March 24. Tickets can be purchased from virginmegastore.me.

Dubai Classics

The third edition of the Dubai Classics 2016 will see one of the world's premier violinists take to the stage. Vadim Repin will perform classical masterpieces from the likes of luminaries such as Tchaikovsky, Paganini and Mendelssohn. Awarded France's highest musical honour, the Victoire d'Honneur, Repin is known for his
